KEEPING THE PROMISE

Thursday 6.15.23 / 12:00 p.m. / Marriott Downtown at Key Tower

Join us as we welcome Eric Gordon, CEO of the Cleveland Metropolitan School District as our keynote speaker. Mr. Gordon will reflect on his 12 years of his service at the helm of CMSD and the current and future state of school-aged children in our community. Applewood Centers is proud of its partnership with CMSD, providing critically needed behavioral health services across the community. Many of the students and families in the CMSD community are served by the programs of Applewood Centers. The staff of Applewood meets the behavioral health needs of these individuals through an array of services including our Early Childhood Mental Health program, School-Based Counseling program and the After School program.

In the past, we have hosted informative and dynamic presenters including:

Maurice J. Elias, Ph.D., Professor of Psychology at Rutgers University, discussed how to address the pandemic's toll on children by providing them with the tools they need to develop their character, self-awareness and interpersonal skills.

Dr. Scott S. Cowen, President Emeritus and Distinguished University Chair of Tulane University, discussed his experiences of leading recovery efforts following Hurricane Katrina in New Orleans, including the impact on public schools and the health care system.

Critically acclaimed New York Times and international bestselling author Paula McLain shared her experience growing up in the foster care system and overcoming the odds.

National Public Radio's Scott Simon shared his family's adoption journey.

Regina Brett, a New York Times bestselling author and award-winning columnist gave examples of how one small act can result in changing a child's life.
